

Retroactive Denials

- A retroactive denial is the reversal of a previously paid claim, through which the member then becomes responsible for payment.
- Claims can be denied retroactively for various reasons. The most common is because coverage was retroactively terminated. To keep this from happening, pay your premiums on time and make sure providers have your correct member number and enrollment information.